

Unselfish people earn more money

What happens to those who behave unselfishly and make sacrifices for the sake of others? According to an interdisciplinary study by researchers from Stockholm University, the Institute for Futures Studies and the University of South Carolina, unselfish people tend both to have more children and to receive higher salaries, in comparison to more selfish people. The results have now been published in the Journal of Personality and Social Psychology. Read more »

How to pick a Nobel Laureate

Did you miss the discussion on the Nobel Prizes 2018? Watch the recording of the conversation on how Nobel Laureates are chosen. See it now »

Time to apply!

The application to the autumn semester 2019 is open 16 October - 15 January, spread the word! Learn more at su.se/study »

EDUCATION

Want to get your master's? Ask our alumni what it was like for them! Click on the photos to hear more from and get in contact with our alumni.

See last year's alumni videos. ▶

Yash, Computer and Systems Science ▶

Maggi, International and Commercial Arbitration Law ▶

Edgar, Statistics ▶

Josephina, Information Systems Management ▶

Meet our alumni and join the network

There are plenty of good reasons for alumni to stay in touch with Stockholm University. Stay connected after you graduate, or connect with us now, to find out more about what possibilities are in store for you! Find out more »

FAQ — Find the answer to your question!

Stockholm University's Student Services have gathered all the frequently asked questions about how to apply in one place. Go to our FAQ »

Webinars for students

You are welcome to join our webinars! We arrange webinars for prospective students as well as for already admitted students. Learn more at su.se/webinars »

RESEARCH

Perspectives on the Climate Change 1.5°C report

"The new IPCC report shows the door is still open to meet the 1.5°C target, but the actions needed require urgent transformative societal change, and we will need to build resilience to deal with an unstable climate system even when this target is met." says Line Gordon, director of the Stockholm Resilience Centre. Learn more »

Five major research grants received for projects

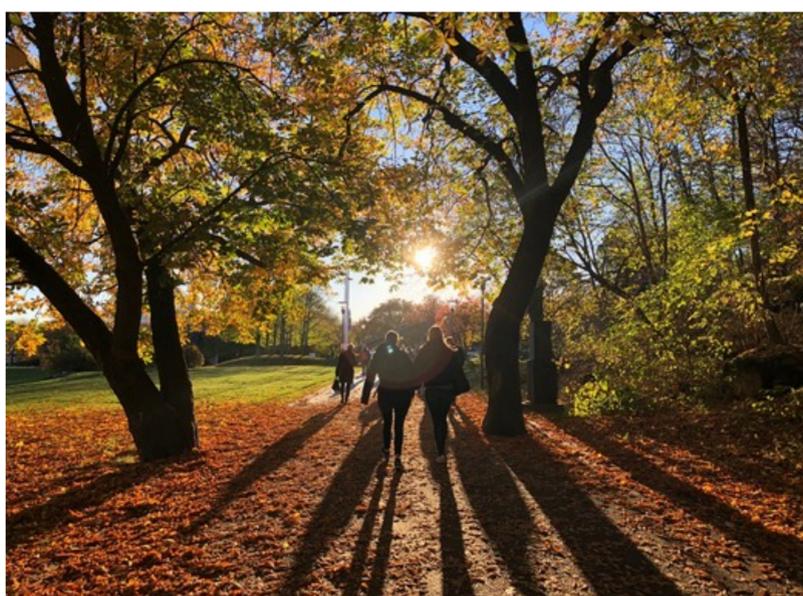

Five research projects at Stockholm University receive grants this year from the Knut and Alice Wallenberg Foundation. The projects span research into the creation of mitochondrial ribosomes to studying and learning more about the fundamental physical nature of dark matter and dark energy. Read the whole article »

Academic freedom in focus at the ceremony in the City Hall

Stockholm University has held its annual inauguration and conferment ceremony in the City Hall. New professors were installed and new doctorates were conferred. In addition, seven jubilee doctors and nine honorary doctorates were conferred. Learn more »

SWEDEN & STOCKHOLM

Autumn leaves at Frescati Campus

The seasons are changing and Frescati Campus at Stockholm University is covered with colour on the trees and on the ground around them. See more pictures in our Facebook photo album »

About the Newsletter

This newsletter is published five times a year by the External Relations and Communications Office at Stockholm University. Editorial team: Nina Wångren, Helene Komlos Grill, Per Larsson. Contact: newsletter@su.se

Photos: Berkut/MostPhotos, Niklas Björling, Goodfreephotos, Serena Nobili/Oskar Klein Centre, Ingmarie Andersson, Roland Fredriksson.

