ADULT DEVELOPMENT, 7.5 HP

CONTENTS
This course is an in-depth examination of adult development. Emphasis is placed on mastering fundamental developmental principles. The interface between biological, cognitive, and social development will also be traced and explored through adulthood. Students will examine traditional and contemporary developmental theories/research and will evaluate these theories/research on empirical, practical, and heuristic grounds. Adult development will be discussed in a holistic fashion.

ASSESSMENT

Language in the Course and Exam

Lectures and the course readings can be in English and/or Swedish, depending on the extent of the participation of international students in this course. Students can complete all of their course work in Swedish or English. Important to note that for the Autumn term 2021, this course will be given completely online and instructions for online participation are posted on the course website (on Athena).

Grading Criteria

Final exam 100%

*The case study assignment and participation in the QA assignment are pass/fail assignments and are regarded as compulsory course requirements that reflect the stated learning outcomes of this course. By arrangement with the course leaders, students may perform some assignments individually instead of in groups. For more details on the case study assignment, see the “Instructions Document” on Athena.

Question & Answer Activity: Before selected regular class meetings or seminars, students can create and answer one question of their own making (the question and answer should be no more than 300 words long, not including references). The question and answer should relate to only one of the course readings for a particular lecture. Students’ questions and answers will be used as a foundation for discussion during the QA seminars. For more details on the QA assignment, see the “Instructions” document” on Athena.

Take Home Exam

The exam will be a comprehensive, essay format exam based on the content knowledge-based learning objectives. The exam is completed individually and posted on Athena by the deadline in the course schedule. Students will earn a letter grade for the final exam. Each exam answer grade is weighted equally. For more details about the exam, see the “Exam instructions” document on Athena.

An A grade for an explanation to a particular question would:

- Be accurate (in other words it would be “factually correct”).
- Have excellent coverage of content or knowledge relevant to the question, including a complete explanation of psychological terms used in the answer.
- Have an innovative use of important and relevant (to the question) concepts that we have dealt with in class and the readings in the explanation.
- Make use of examples to illustrate key points.
- Be logical and coherent in organization.
A “B” grade for a given explanation (i.e., response to a question) would fulfill the criteria listed above but would be very good rather than excellent in terms of accuracy, content coverage, innovation, use of examples to illustrate key points, logical organization and coherence in answers.

A “C” grade for a given explanation (i.e., response to a question) would fulfill the criteria listed above but would have a major shortcoming (i.e., a repeated problem) in one area: accuracy, content coverage, innovation, use of examples to illustrate key points, poor logical organization and lack of coherence.

A “C” grade for a given explanation can also be earned in a case in which the criteria listed above were fulfilled but would have significant shortcomings across more than one grading criterion: accuracy, content coverage, innovation, use of examples to illustrate key points, poor logical organization and lack of coherence.

A “D” grade for a given explanation (i.e., response to a question) would have major shortcomings in two areas: accuracy, content coverage, innovation, use of examples to illustrate key points, poor logical organization and lack of coherence in answers.

A “E” grade for a given explanation (i.e., response to a question) would have major shortcomings in three areas: accuracy, content coverage, innovation, use of examples to illustrate key points, poor logical organization and lack of coherence in answers.

A “Fx” grade for a given explanation (i.e., response to a question) would have major shortcomings in four areas: accuracy, content coverage, innovation, use of examples to illustrate key points, poor logical organization and lack of coherence in answers.

A “F” grade for a given explanation (i.e., response to a question) would not fulfill any of the criteria for an A grade.

Letter grades for exam answers are calculated using a seven-point rating scale of A to F. Students’ final grades for the course will be the result of the final exam grade and a passing grade on the case study assignment and QA assignment. The grade for the final exam is recorded as a letter grade.

A-Excellent, B Very Good, C-Good, D-Satisfactory, E-Sufficient, Fx-Insufficient, F-Fail
