Module Description

In this module, students study literary texts in English from different genres and learn basic literary concepts and analytical methods. These skills are developed through seminars, workshops and lectures. The module comprises five lectures, five two-hour seminars, and four two-hour workshops, all of which involve active participation from the students. The students will read primary texts and secondary material before each seminar. They will discuss the material in groups, in and outside of class, using these meetings as occasions to reflect upon and voice their ideas about their reading of primary texts and understanding of the secondary material. The examination will include a written assignment and a written, sit-down exam in practical text analysis, as well as an oral assignment.

Intended Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of the course, students are expected to be able to:

- Explain basic literary concepts in English and apply them in discussions of literary texts;
- Critically discuss different types of literary texts in English;
- Demonstrate a good understanding of spoken and written English;
- Express themselves in academic English, in writing as well as in discussions and presentations.

Grading

The module adopts the 7-grade SU scale.

To receive a final grade, students must have completed all the examinations. Failing to submit an assignment will result in no grade.

To receive a passing grade (A to E), students must pass all the examinations, and demonstrate that they achieved all the learning outcomes at least at the minimum level (as described below). All parts of the exam must achieve a passing grade for the exam to be a pass.

Module activities

The module consists of the following activities:

- Five seminars (pre-seminar instructions for each seminar will be posted on Athena);
- Five lectures (lecture notes/readings/ppts will be posted on Athena);
- Four workshops (pre-workshop instructions will be posted on Athena);
- One oral presentation (instructions for oral presentations will be posted on Athena);
- Before each lecture, seminar or workshop, students are expected to finish the assigned reading, do any accompanying tasks, and discuss the texts and tasks in groups. Students should be prepared to discuss the reading and tasks at the seminar;
- Students are expected to complete all the tasks assigned by the teacher.

Examination

Students are required to complete the following:

- 1) Written assignment: Pass/Fail. To receive a Pass, the assignment needs to meet the grading criteria for at least an E.
- 2) Exam: 100% of the grade (A-F)

Module format

The module will take place in the form of lectures, workshops, and seminars. In the lectures, students will be given broad theoretical tools and contexts through which to approach different genres of English language literature. In the workshops, students will develop and practise their skills in close textual analysis. In the seminars, students will practise analysing literary texts in terms of their generic features and broader thematic concerns and learn how to provide textual support for their reading.

Both the seminars and workshops are intended to be active, hands-on opportunities for students to practice the skills they will learn throughout the module; for this reason, the students should bring the assigned text(s) with them to every seminar.

Required reading

Please buy the following books in the following editions. It is important that we have the same editions for workshops and discussions.

- Jeanette Winterson, Oranges are not the Only Fruit (Random House, 2014)
- Julian Barnes, The Sense of an Ending (Vintage, 2012)
- Harold Pinter, The Birthday Party (Faber & Faber, 2018)
- Arthur Miller, Death of a Salesman (Penguin, 2000)

Other set texts (poetry and short stories) will be available as pdfs on Athena.

“Literary Terms Compendium” is available as pdf on Athena. As a complementary resource, we recommend Chris Baldick, Oxford Dictionary of Literary Terms (Oxford UP, 2015). Available online via Stockholm University Library, log-in required.
