Course description

The purpose of the course is to develop the student's language skills in English and to give the student basic knowledge of English grammar. The course gives students the conditions to improve their oral and written English language skills, both for personal language development and for educational purposes. During the course, common beliefs about language and language learning are also discussed and students are given the opportunity to critically examine and evaluate these beliefs with a view to the future profession. The course includes reading and discussion of academic texts relevant to the professional role. In addition, the students are given the opportunity to improve and develop their versatile communicative ability in English. Through written and spoken exercises, students get the opportunity to organize and communicate ideas relevant to the profession.

Intended learning outcomes

In order to pass the course, students are expected to be able to:

- use English in speech and writing in an essentially grammatically correct manner;
- demonstrate adequate grammatical knowledge for the profession;
- demonstrate an adequate vocabulary for the profession;
- assimilate and in English discuss academic texts relevant to the profession in speech and writing;
- identify the most common problem areas of the English language in relation to the future teaching profession.

Grading

The course adopts the 7-grade SU scale (A–E, Fx, F).

To receive a final grade, students must have completed all examinations (Students who do not complete all examinations will not receive a course grade).

To receive a passing grade (A to E), students must complete and pass all examinations, and thus demonstrate that they achieved all the learning outcomes at least at the minimum level.

Course activities

The course consists of the following activities:

- Seminars;
- Some lectures as additional support (given jointly with the Department of Teaching and Learning)
- Grammar tutorial seminar;
- Working together in study groups;
- Practice presentation and practice essay, where students will have the opportunity to receive constructive feedback. Note that only essays submitted on time will receive feedback.
- Before each session, including the additional support lectures, students are expected to complete all assigned tasks to be able to participate meaningfully. Before reading the assigned chapters, students should consult the Study Guide (on Athena) for the study questions. When reading the grammar book, students should also do all the accompanying grammar exercises.

Examination

Students are required to complete the following:

- Written exam (A-F);
- An essay (A-F);
- Two oral examinations (A-F).

Grammar and Vocabulary Exam (A-F, 40% of the course grade): The exam has four sections (Vocabulary, Grammar, Grammatical analysis, and Free production). To pass the exam, the student needs at least 50% of the total points in the exam, as well as at least 50% on each section of the exam. Students who fail one or more sections, or the exam overall, will need to retake the entire exam.

Essay (A-F, 40% of the course grade): Instructions are in the Study Guide on Athena.

Spoken presentation (A-F, 10% of the course grade): A group presentation based on an assigned chapter. Each student gets an individual grade for their part of the presentation.

Participation in discussions (A-F, 10% of the course grade): For participation in group discussions on topics related to the profession following the spoken presentations.
