

Social Stratification, Welfare and Social Policy Seminar

Programme for the fall of 2022

The Social Stratification, Welfare and Social Policy seminars are held every other Tuesday 13.00 at SOFI, Stockholm University.

September 27: Adel Daoud (Linköping University)

Title: "Observatory of Poverty: Combining AI and Earth Observation to Measure Health and Living Conditions in Africa"

October 11: Anna Sandberg (SOFI/Stockholm University)

Title: "The impact of PhD studies on mental health care uptake"

October 25: David Weisstanner (Aarhus University)

Title: "Current Income, Permanent Income, and the Material Basis of the Education Cleavage in Voting Behaviour"

November 8: Said Hassan (Oxford University)

Title: "Better teachers, smarter kids? The impact of teacher qualifications on students' academic performance"

November 22: Dragana Stojmenovska (New York University)

Title: TBA (online seminar)

December 6: Michaela Kreyenfeld (Hertie School of Governance)

Title: "Earnings Trajectories after Divorce: The Legacies of the Earner Model during Marriage" (with Daniel Brüggman)

For more information and invitations to all seminars at SOFI contact the seminar organisers via www.sofi.su.se

Swedish Institute for Social Research (SOFI)

Stockholm
University